POLICE HEADS SLATED TO GO ALL OVER CITY

Captains Who Fail to Clean Up Crime to Lose Stars, Mayor's Plan.

ALDERMEN FIGHT HUNT

The biggest police shakeup in Chicago's history—the re-reading of the department from South Chicago to the Evanston line—is slated to follow the appointment of a new chief of detectives, according to Mayor Thompson's program, as discussed by his confidential aide yesterday. There was no indication change in the mayor's determination to make Nicholas Hunt chief.

Many commanding officers are said to be slated for removal. Several captains, in whose districts thieves, pickpockets, and holdup men are alleged to be rampant these chilly nights, are to be asked to get out or stand trial before the city's determination to make Nicholas Hunt chief.

They may be surprised to know that the evidence has already been collected by private detectives.

"Boat to Come Out" City Hall. The police shakeup is but one angle of the general graft crusade to be pushed in nearly all the city departments by the city service commission under direction of President Coffin, was another promise made yesterday.

"The roof is coming off the city hall," said THE TRIBUNE'S informant. "We will show things wide open in this town. It is wise that every crooked thing in the city government, no matter who is caught, will be out where every one may take a good look, and this is no bluff. We've got the goods already."

If the mayor makes good on the promise made for him by his advisers yesterday, the city hall will be seething with emotions shortly after the new year is rung in.

The only statement made by the mayor himself in this regard was this: "When this thing is over, Capt. Coffin will be one of the biggest men in this country."

Healey Gives Captains Orders. That several commanding officers are slated to walk the plank was indicated in a drastic order issued by Chief of Police Charles C. Healey.

Following are the principal points in the chief's instructions:

"In any district where the reports show an increase in crime without a corresponding increase in the number of arrests of persons guilty of the same, charges will be preferred against the captain of such district."

His View of Captains. "If a captain of a district is not able to cope with crime and moral conditions in his district he is of no service to the department."

"No criminal should be tolerated in any district and his presence without proper police action will be considered a matter of duty on the part of the captain and treated accordingly."

"It is the duty of a captain to see that each subordinate, from lieutenant to patrolman, performs his whole duty. If any of them fails in giving full measure of service, captains are required to prefer charges against the member of the department derelict in his duty in order to absolve himself from personal responsibility."

Determined to Clean Up Force. Chief Healey is determined to remedy the conditions which caused Mayor Thompson to say the department "stinks." He is prepared to ask the city service commission to discharge every captain who does not display untiring efficiency in the conduct of his particular district.

The order is said to be designed to eliminate political influence and other forms of pressure from outside the department. No shifting of responsibility will be tolerated, the chief said.

Where charges are preferred against a captain, it is proposed simply to produce the records showing that the official has not succeeded in coping with crime conditions in his district.

City Not "Crime Bidden," He Says. "In the first place, I want to say that I do not think this is a crime ridden city," the chief said in commenting on the order. "I am certain there is less crime than there was last year at this time."

"Glass Pistol" Thief Confesses to 19 Robberies

Fred Logue Denies He Killed Policeman Burke; Still Suspected.

PEPPER ONLY WEAPON

Fred Logue, known also as James Logue and James O'Connell, the "red pepper" robber, confessed yesterday to having committed nineteen robberies in Chicago in the last month.

With a Glass Pistol. Calmly, as if reciting his Sunday school lesson, Logue went over the events of his life in the last six months, never once omitting a detail in a narrative that for originality started even the grim Capt. Morgan Collins, in command of the Central station, where Logue is held.

Denies Knowledge of Murder. But a determined third degree questioning failed to make Logue admit that he had any knowledge of the murder of Policeman John C. Burke.

The police, however, have an idea that his confession of the robberies may be prefatory to an admission of knowledge of the killing of the policeman.

Eleven victims identified Logue as the man who robbed them.

Logue says he is not yet 18 years old. He is 5 feet tall and slender. His eyes are hollow and his cheeks sunken. He fits well the name of "Skinny" with which his former comrades of the delivery wagons called him.

"Some Knew Me." "I didn't rob them all," he explained carefully. "Some of them knew me. I told them to beat it as quick as they could. And when they saw my revolver they always did."

"Until the early part of the summer I had been working as a delivery boy for a grocer at 47th Ashland avenue. But it was tough picking, and I never seemed to get ahead. So I started tramping. I hopped over Iowa, Michigan, Missouri, Oklahoma, Ohio, and Illinois. I was arrested only once, and that was in Paris, Ill., where they sent me up for twenty days for vagrancy."

"I was walking past a store in State street near Congress when I saw a boy glass pistol in a window. I bought it for 15 cents. But I am very weak physically, and I knew if I had any trouble with my victims I might get hurt, so I bought a nickel's worth of pepper."

"Apt to Pull Trigger." "I am glad now that I didn't have a real gun, for in the excitement of a holdup a fellow is apt to get nervous and pull the trigger. Well, this was on Nov. 13, and the next day I had the good luck to hold up a grocery boy and get $20. I used my system for the first time that day."

"I made him turn around while I took his money and then, for fear he might hurt me, I tossed some pepper in his eyes. That same day I got two more grocery boys—one for $5 and another for $5."

"I never held up a girl or a woman. I always held up young fellows who could have taken care of themselves, if they had been smart enough. All I had was a glass pistol and some pepper. If any of them had struck me it would have been all right."

One day I stopped a driver who was delivering groceries, and he saw my gun and yelled: 'Hello, Skinny, you ain't got to rob me, are you? I know you. I'm a friend of yours.'"

Lets Victim Have Watch. "So I told him to get into his little wagon and beat it while his shoes were good. Another time a fellow asked me not to let him watch because he needed it. So I let him keep it."

"On Thanksgiving morning I got $25 off a driver, and then I went out to my mother's house, where she had cooked a fine dinner for me. In the next two days I got $10 and $4. On Dec. 7 Joe Hyland, who drives a wagon for a grocer, knew me, and I let him go."

"I got $30 from a driver on Dec. 8 and took a little trip to Indianapolis, where I stayed at the Colonial hotel."

"No, I am not a drinking man. I take a glass of beer once in a while, but never anything stronger. I don't smoke or take dope of any kind."

"I never pulled any holdups on the west side. On Dec. 18 I was playing pool in a place at Madison, near Roman avenue, and I got a little short of money, so I stepped around in an alley and tried to hold up an old man driving a wagon, but he yelled so loud I let him go."

WANT TO EXPEL REPORTERS AT CHRISTIANIA

Quarrel Precedes Quiet Landing, with Only a Handful at Wharf.

MISSION A FAILURE?

BY CAROLYN WILSON.

(Special Cable to The Tribune.) CHRISTIANIA, Dec. 19.—The Oscar II, Henry Ford's peace ship, arrived this morning. No enthusiasm was shown, eight college students being the only persons on hand to greet the delegates.

The first formal meeting was held tonight and about 500 students attended. An admission fee of $1.50 was charged. Neither Mr. Schwimmer nor Mrs. Schwimmer attended tonight's gathering. Both seem unwilling to be associated with any but official organizations.

Row on Peace Ship. On the trip coming over there was a row regarding the newspaper correspondents. Some of the delegates objected to the news that was being sent from the ship by wireless. No one claimed that the troubles of the delegates in arriving at a definite program had been misrepresented, but some delegates wanted the correspondents to submit their articles to inspection and approval before they were sent to America.

To this the newspaper representatives demurred and absolutely refused to have their matter censured.

The matter stirred up so much discussion that a movement was started to expel the correspondents as soon as Christiansia was reached, but as on practically every other subject, the delegates could not agree on this either, and the matter finally was dropped.

The Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones of Chicago, Miss Katharine M. Brewster, and Lieut. Gov. Andrew J. Bethe of South Carolina addressed the meeting.

For three days Mr. Ford remained in his stateroom while the delegates were trying to make peace among themselves.

Future Plans Agreed On. A plan for the peace expedition was agreed on at tonight's meeting. Besides the 100 Americans already in the party ten people are to join from each of the following countries: Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Spain, and Switzerland.

After Stockholm and Copenhagen have been visited all will assemble at The Hague. There the entire body will choose three delegates from each country. It is stated that William Jennings Bryan will be among the Americans if he accepts the invitations.

Twenty-one delegates will be empowered to act indefinitely. They will have a twofold mission:

First, to suggest possible means of peace; second, to receive overtures for peace directly from the belligerents.

Mr. Ford, it was publicly announced, would place unlimited funds back of the permanent peace delegation at The Hague.

Realize the Failure. (By the Associated Press.) LONDON, Dec. 20, 5 a. m.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail describes Mr. Ford and his "quarrelsome peace pilgrims" as surprised and disconcerted at the lack of even a semblance of official welcome to Norway, and says there is no disguising the fact that the majority of the pilgrims realize that they have embarked on a foolish errand.

The correspondent says that at least a dozen delegates intend to desert before they make themselves more ridiculous. Describing the reception given the Scandinavian newspaper reporters aboard the ship, the Mail's correspondent says:

"The stage was elaborately set in the second class saloon to convey the impression of harmony, and a resolution was unanimously carried pledging the expedition to use all efforts to end the war."

Start of Trouble. "This was the first motion carried without a dissenting voice since the Oscar II sailed, and the Scandinavians seemed puzzled, but they soon were enlightened. Up sprang S. S. McCure and spoke of rumors that seven New York

Big Convention Quarters Held for Roosevelt

Colonel's Boom Bobs Up Anew Following Gary Dinner in East.

New York, Dec. 19.—(Special.)—As a sequel to the dinner given Friday night by E. H. Gary, directing genius of the United States Steel corporation, political sophtayers of New York had a few visions today. One was the picture of Col. Theodore Roosevelt astride the Republican national convention in Chicago next June at La Rhodessaan Colosseum.

Col. Roosevelt's friends have an option on one of the most desirable assembly rooms and extensive other quarters in the Congress hotel. Whether the convention option will be taken up will depend on the action of Medill McCormick, who is on his way to Chicago. He is said to be due in Chicago tomorrow with a personal message or understanding which will be communicated to the inner circle of the Roosevelt boosters in this city.

Contract Would Signify Action. If Mr. McCormick should close the contract for the desired location, it is the suggestion here that it should be considered as prima facie evidence that one of the steps in the big scheme to nominate Col. Roosevelt has been negotiated successfully.

Mr. McCormick was a guest at the Gary dinner along with Col. Roosevelt. Also present were George W. Perkins, Frank Vanderlip, Cornelius Vanderbilt, and Daniel Guggenheim.

Wait Until Last Minute. With Roosevelt sitting quietly in the boat until the convention hour, some of his friends, according to the dope college, believe that the time will come in the Republican convention when the delegates will utter a Macedonian cry for help.

Then, and not until then, the scenario reads, Col. Roosevelt is to be pushed through the convention door. Then, the strongest card, all the Progressives would be back in the fold with one jump, the party would be reunited, and the full vote would be corralled to oppose President Wilson.

SURRAT IN A RAGE WHEN CROWD ENCORES HER HELP.

Rings Down Curtain, Disbands Company, and Quits Vaudeville Because of Rude Audience.

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 19.—(Special.)—Valeka Surrat has quit vaudeville following a display of temper here Saturday afternoon, and her company has disbanded.

She has a dancing partner, known as the Hugeness, and when the audience disbands, Surrat appeared before the curtain, refused to allow the encore, and announced that if the audience wanted to see any more of her act they would have to stop their encore cries.

The audience hied Surrat and yelled for her assistants, and Surrat rang down the curtain and closed the act.

ACTION ADDS TO BALKAN CRISIS; INVASION NEAR?

Germany Equips an Army Ready for Early Thrust at Port of Saloniki.

(By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.) ATHENS, Dec. 19.—Greece has issued a formal reply to the Austro-German representations protesting against the erection by the allies of fortifications around Saloniki.

The Greek government replied to the protesting Teuton diplomats that Greece was powerless to prevent the fortifications, as they are "indispensable to the safety of the Anglo-French expeditionary force."

The safety of the Anglo-French troops, the Greek reply is quoted as pointing out, has been formally guaranteed by Greece.

The note also emphasized that Greece still is Serbia's ally.

Increases Danger of Invasion. This reply intensifies the crisis in that it increases the danger of a German invasion of Greece with the object of driving out the allies. It is not the presence of the allied troops but their fortifying Saloniki that forms the chief point at issue in the German representations here.

In some quarters there is a tendency to the belief that Germany, under a silent agreement with Greece, proposes to allow the situation to proceed to a point where the Hellenic government will be forced to admit that the allies' forces and fortifications have become too strong for Greece to cope with successfully, especially in view of the menace to Greece from the allied fleets.

When that admission is made, it is argued, Germany will tentatively assume the role of Greece's liberator, and with Greek consent, move against Saloniki. Pro-Germans here do not conceal the fact that this is also the view held in Berlin.

Observe Neutrality Zone. Meanwhile the Bulgars and Teutons are scrupulously observing the neutrality zone agreement, keeping strictly within the limit of that zone. The pause at the same time allows the fatigued troops to rest from the arduous fighting in Serbia and the strenuous mountain climbing.

The Germans, in addition to massing additional troops on the Greek border, are accumulating enormous stores of ammunition, war material, and supplies carried southward along the Belgrade-Nish-Saloniki railway.

The Greek elections, which took place today, are not believed to have any bearing on the situation, in view of the fact that its outcome necessarily is a strengthening of the government's policy, the Venizelos, or pro-ally party, having no candidate in the field.

Predicts No Invasion. LONDON, Dec. 20.—Unless Bulgarian or Turkish troops are employed, which is considered unlikely, there can be no enemy advance on the entire line in Greece," says the Morning Post's Athens correspondent.

Allied air reconnaissances have discovered no German forces south of Uskub, where five German regiments are located, and only German engineers are busily engaged in repairing railway bridges destroyed by the allies. It may be assumed, therefore, that the allies have plenty of time to prepare the defenses of Saloniki.

Confidence is expressed in official circles here that as a result of the negotiations with the Greek ministers in the European capitals the integrity of Greek territory already has been guaranteed by both European war groups.

WHO AM I?

"I Was Left on a Doorstep Twenty-four Years Ago—Do You Know My Parents?"

MISS MAB DEAHN.

Who am I? The aid of THE TRIBUNE has been asked by Miss Mab Deahn of 137 North Jefferson street, Peoria, in answering this question for her.

Twenty-four years ago, she said, she was born in Rockford, Ill., and left on the doorstep of W. S. Harper, a business man of that city. Harper placed her in a hospital and she was later adopted by Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Lewis of Rockford.

"Later my adopted parents separated," Miss Deahn writes, "the father moving west to Colorado, where I was raised in a convent until seven years ago, when I came to Peoria. If there is any one who can tell me who my parents are or where they are or anything at all about my birth I will appreciate it so much."

All attempts by Miss Deahn and her foster father to ascertain her parentage in Rockford have proved futile.

Stiegfried Paul London, Well Known to Tourists, Accused of Giving Information to Russians.

BERLIN, Dec. 19, via London, Dec. 20, 2 a. m.—Stiegfried Paul London, a naturalized American citizen, has been placed in jail at Warsaw and is awaiting trial on a charge of espionage.

As the investigation has not yet been completed, the authorities have not been able to communicate to the American the full charges against London, which are understood to involve an alleged conspiracy to convey information to the Russians after the German occupation of Warsaw.

The authorities are allowing the American representative the widest latitude to assist London in preparing for his defense.

NEW DEMAND DUE TO REACH VIENNA TODAY

Second Note Will Insist That Austria Disavow Ancona Act.

(By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.) LONDON, Monday, Dec. 20, 5 a. m.—A Vienna dispatch to the Exchange Service says:

"Baron Burian, the Austrian minister of foreign affairs, was unexpectedly called to a prolonged audience with the Emperor Francis Joseph."

"The anti-American feeling is at fever heat."

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Monday, Dec. 20, 5 a. m.—A Vienna dispatch to the Exchange Service says:

"Baron Burian, the Austrian minister of foreign affairs, was unexpectedly called to a prolonged audience with the Emperor Francis Joseph."

"The anti-American feeling is at fever heat."

BY ARTHUR BEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—(Special.)—President Wilson's rejoinder to Austria's reply in the Ancona note was dispatched to Vienna today. It is due to arrive in the Austrian capital tomorrow, but Secretary of State Lansing declined to make it give out the text for publication in the United States.

According to the statements of administration officials, President Wilson has so phrased the rejoinder that he "put it up to" Austria to determine its future relations with the United States.

The president, it is stated, virtually informs Austria that if it continues to defend the admiralty account of the sinking of the Ancona, before the removal of all the passengers the United States will not discuss the matter further and will be compelled to consider the severance of diplomatic relations.

If, however, the Austrian government repudiates the admiralty statement, the United States, the note indicates, is willing to enter upon a discussion of the facts as proposed by Vienna.

Note Strong as First. The note is described by administration officials as "equally as strong" as that which contained the original demands that Austria disavow the sinking of the Ancona, punish the submarine commander, and pay an indemnity. It reiterates insistence upon the rendering of satisfaction in these particulars, but on the whole is not so harsh in tone as the president's first note.

It is not an ultimatum in specific terms, but is regarded by the state department as embodying all the implication of an ultimatum in the event that Austria elects to "stand pat" upon the admiralty statement.

From one point of view the note constitutes a defense of Mr. Wilson's action in presenting the preliminary demands to Austria before the facts concerning the sinking of the Ancona were fully ascertained. Secretary Lansing asked Vienna to answer a number of specific questions bearing on the circumstances of the incident. The Austrian government said it would be unable to furnish additional information until communication with the commander of the submarine could be re-established. Then, without awaiting the further information requested, President Wilson dispatched his preliminary note to Vienna.

Thinks Case Is Proved. The president takes the position in his rejoinder that the Austrian admiralty statement furnished all the information necessary, because it admitted that the Ancona was torpedoed after it had ceased to fight and before the removal of all the passengers to a place of safety.

If such action is countenanced by the Austrian government, contends Mr. Wilson, it confesses itself guilty of a deliberate disregard of the rules of war which cost the lives of American citizens.

Mr. Wilson makes it clear that he regards the admiralty statement as the official position of the Austrian government. He bases his contention on the fact that the admiralty account of the sinking of the Ancona was the only official statement received from Vienna before he formulated his demands and that it was presented to the state department by Baron Swietidner, the Austrian chargé d'affaires here.

Only Two Know Wording. Although these are the general terms of the rejoinder, the exact phraseology in which they are embodied, the language which frequently determines the force of

Her Prize Pupil Flunks Out on A B C of Love

"Love your teacher" was taken literally by Peter Lambos, a pupil under Miss Agnes White, and Peter was arrested last night, his mind unbalanced, the police believe, by the stress of an affection that was not reciprocated.

While most boys were lying awake nights devising revenge on the tutor who reprimanded them because they got too many "e's" in successful or multiplied 2 and 2 in such a way as to achieve a result of 5, Peter was writing bitter love letters on the wings of love and other glided fanes.

Peter, a few days ago, announced to Miss White that he would call Sunday evening. This information was contained in a special delivery letter, and Miss White notified the Englewood police, and a couple of detectives were sent over. When Peter called he was arrested and his romance thereby closed.

Miss White, who lives at 7100 Emerald avenue, is a teacher in the Federal street branch of the Mann school. Last year, when teaching a night class at the Jones school, Harrison street and Plymouth court, she received Lambos as one of her pupils. Lambos is a Greek fruit peddler, 30 years old, and was exceedingly apt in his studies.

One day Miss White commended him for his work, and Peter got the wrong idea in his head. He fell head and heels into love with his preceptor.

Miss White told him to stop his "nonsense" and Peter did, but he spent most of his time staring at teacher.

At the opening of school last fall he came to the Jones school and asked to see Miss White. John J. Duffy, the engineer, went instead and told Peter to "beat it, or get his block knocked off."

PLANS OFFERED FOR DEFENSE OF U. S. SHOW WIDE DIFFERENCE

"A free people ought not only to be armed but disciplined, to which a uniform and well digested plan is requisite."
—GEORGE WASHINGTON.

BY CAPT. HENRY J. REILLY.
New York, Dec. 19.—(Special.)—The difficulty in the present campaign for adequate national defense consists in knowing which one of the many plans proposed really provides such defense.

The four main ones which have been made public are the general staff plan, not as issued by the secretary of war, but as the staff would have gotten it out had it been permitted freedom of action; what might be called Senator Chamberlain's plan, consisting of two bills, one dealing with the regular army and the national guard, and the other with a system of universal military training; similar to the Swiss; the administration plan, and the Hay bill.

The general staff plan, as published in The Times, expresses the views of experts, founded on exhaustive study of the situation from a military point of view of what is the minimum adequate defense. This plan is based on certain fundamentals, simply demonstrated to be correct by our own military history and that of all other nations.

Navy Not for Coast Defense.
These fundamentals are:
The navy must be free to engage the navy of the enemy wherever found, and not tied down to coast defense.

Harbors and roadsteads must be sufficiently well protected by properly manned guns to prevent their use by an enemy fleet or expedition.
Sufficient troops must be provided for overseas possessions to prevent their use by an enemy as bases for operations against us.

Within the continental limits of the United States there must be immediately available a sufficiently large force of trained troops to promptly meet and defeat any overseas expedition which a study of the shipping and troops of possible enemies show can be sent against us.

There must be sufficient reserves to make good the inevitable battle losses.
An army must be organized in higher units, consisting of the various arms of the service, which the latest war experience shows to be necessary.

Staff Urges Big Army.
To meet this the general staff plan would have provided 230,000 regular troops, 370,000 regular reserve troops, a force of 600,000, with one year's continuous training, and 1,000,000 reserve troops trained by the beginning of war to make good the inevitable battle losses.

Director of Recruiting Sees Brighter Outlook—Appears with Secretary of Dock Workers' Union.

LONDON, Dec. 19.—Lord Derby, director of recruiting, and Ben Tillett, secretary of the Dock Workers' union, representing the opposite poles of social and political life, appeared on the same platform in a music hall meeting here today when Tillett described his recent visit to the British front. The Earl of Derby, who presided, said on introducing the speaker:

"I hope the new year will show a brighter outlook than is discernible at the present moment. Probably the result will come sooner than many expect, but not sooner than they hope—a result which will be a victory for the allied forces. I am not the least pessimistic about the future."

ROUMANIAN GENERAL SLAYS SELF AFTER BRIBE INQUIRY?

Munich Papers Say Officer Was Suspected of Receiving Money—Commits Suicide.

GENEVA, via London, Dec. 19.—Munich newspapers received here announce the suicide of Gen. Joneco, commanding the Second Rumanian army corps. According to the story, the general was suspected of having been bribed by one of the powers. The minister of war ordered an inquiry and, his suspicions being confirmed, he sent two officers to inform Gen. Joneco of the result of the investigation. Two hours later Gen. Joneco killed himself.

TRAINING CAMP IN SOUTH.
New York, Dec. 19.—A military training camp for students, business and professional men of the southern states, patterned after the one conducted at Plattsburg, N. Y., last summer, is to be established next April at Port Oglethorpe, Ga., near Chattahoochee, Tenn. It was announced here tonight by Maj. Gen. Wood.

ASKS UPLIFT OF STATE MILITIA; URGES U. S. HELP

Gen. A. B. Critchfield of Ohio
Defends Service and Points
Out Possibilities in It.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—(Special.)—A committee of officers representing the national guard has just concluded a series of conferences with Chairman Hay of the house military affairs committee and Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the senate military committee, over the future of the state militia.

These officers came to Washington for the purpose of impressing upon the congressional authorities the desire of the national guard to maintain its identity in the administration defense program, to increase its efficiency, and swell its numbers.

Talks Hard for Militia.
Gen. A. B. Critchfield of the Ohio state militia, in discussing the conference today, said:

"It is the opinion of those who have had long service in the national guard that if congress will provide the necessary funds the national guard can be brought up to a strength of 250,000 with the colors and 250,000 in a reserve."

"In addition to federal pay for the guard there should be appropriations for longer terms of field service. For years officers of the national guard have realized that they have not had sufficient field service and this part of the legislation is as important as the passage of a pay bill. If congress will provide sufficient funds and pass the necessary legislation the national guard will in time give the country half a million trained citizen soldiers."

New Move for Defenses.
A new move was made in the fight for increased defenses today when the American Defense society sent a letter to Secretary of War Garrison, urging him to abolish the war order preventing officers from discussing the defense situation.

The letter, bearing the signature of Cushing Station, secretary of the defense organization, points out the need of testimony regarding our military requirements by experts, and indicates the belief of the society officials that reliable facts can be stated by the army officers without exposure of valuable military secrets.

SEEK WAR PLOT BEHIND BLAZE IN BRASS COMPANY

Police Believe Some One Suspected "Western" Had Been Making Shrapnel.

A belief that some one suspected the Western Brass Manufacturing company of making steel castings for shrapnel led the police yesterday to begin a rigid inquiry into the cause of a fire which partly destroyed the company's plant at Twenty-first street and Marshall boulevard late in the afternoon.

The fire, which caused a loss of about $10,000, was well under way when Frank Taylor, a night watchman, opened the front doors of the building at 4:30. He was almost smothered by the clouds of smoke which poured out, but managed to turn on an alarm. By the time the firemen arrived the flames had spread through the entire three story building.

Denies Making Munitions.
Joseph Hadka, president of the company, admitted the origin of the fire could not be determined, but denied the plant was manufacturing munitions.

"We have had plenty of orders for shrapnel cases and the like, and could run our factory night and day making them," he said, "but we have turned these proposals down. We have been running night and day shifts, it is true, but we have been making automobile accessories and special machine parts."

Neighborhood reports, based on the unusual activity at the plant, that "they must be making munitions at the Western" are thought by the police to have led some enthusiasts to start the fire.

Patients in St. Anthony's hospital near by were frightened by the smoke and the banging apparatus, but were reassured by attendants.

Two Other Bad Fires.

By a curious coincidence, hospital patients were more or less disturbed by each of the other two disastrous fires of the day in and about Chicago.

Across from the Chicago Union hospital at Wellington and Florence avenue St. Sebastian's Roman Catholic church was destroyed by fire which was discovered just as the last of 700 parishioners were leaving the building after the morning service.

Father John Doody, when he went from the altar to a washroom in the basement, found the walls and ceiling about the furnace a mass of flames. He ran back to the altar, seized the blessed sacrament, and carried it to the street. It was the only thing saved, except for a small gilt cross which remained unharmed high above the front gable of the church as the walls tottered and powerful streams of water played against it.

Firemen Work Two Hours.

Firemen worked for more than two hours before the fire was extinguished and the parochial school and parish house, both new buildings, were declared out of danger. The loss was placed at $8,000.

Led by Lieut. William Flynn, five members of engine company 35 dragged a line of hose into the burning structure. Just as they entered there was a roar of crashing timbers, and a large section of the roof dropped to the floor, covering them with fragments of blazing wood. A falling beam knocked off Lieut. Flynn's helmet before the men retreated.

The third fire, which is being investigated in the belief that it was of incendiary origin, destroyed the Glogi hospital in Gary, Ind. All the patients were rescued by nurses and firemen. Dr. Antonio Glogi, the director, denied that he had incurred the enmity of any Italian society, but failed to convince the Gary police that there was no need of an inquiry.

PRESIDENT VINCENT URGES NATIONAL PLAN FOR U. S.

Head of University of Minnesota Says Country Can't Continue on Haphazard Line.

Wanted by the United States: One strong man with a strong constructive foresight.

That, according to President Vincent of the University of Minnesota, is the country's greatest present need. Speaking at the Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall, President Vincent said:

"The United States has got to stop trusting to manifest destiny. We ought to have a plan for the nation and quit muddling."

"The strong nation is the one with a real plan, a constructive effort extending over ten, twenty, perhaps fifty years—a plan that moves forward with honest material momentum and cannot be blown aside by windjammers."

Bishop John H. Vincent, father of the speaker, now in his 94th year, was present.

TONNAGE OF U. S. MERCHANT SHIPS SETS NEW RECORD.

Size and Number of Vessels Built and Contracted for Largest of Any Time in Nation's History.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18.—American shipyards have under construction now more vessels than ever before were building in the United States, to add to an American merchant marine whose gross tonnage already is the largest in the country's history, said a report issued today by the commission of navigation.

Ninety-eight merchant vessels of more than 3,000 tons are being built or are under contract. These with many small vessels being constructed have a total tonnage of 761,531.

The total tonnage of ships under the American flag, numbering 26,888, Dec. 1, was 5,444,256, a net gain of more than 80,000 tons since July 1. There was a net gain of 187 ships, despite 272 vessels lost, abandoned, and sold to aliens. Twenty-three came under the American flag from foreign registry and 498 were completed in shipyards.

ABOLITION DAY IS OBSERVED.
Fiftieth Anniversary of Thirteenth Amendment Celebrated by Boston Negroes.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 19.—The fiftieth anniversary of the promulgation of the thirteenth amendment to the federal constitution abolishing slavery was celebrated here today. Various Negro societies held services at the statues of Wendell Phillips and Charles Sumner and later attended a mass meeting.

Declares Doors Will Be Kept Open to Help Youth of City No Matter Who Orders Otherwise.

"We will keep the doors of the Sportsman's Club of America open, no matter who tells us not to,"

This was the comment of James A. Pugh, president of the club, when he arrived in Chicago yesterday.

"Anything which helps the young men of Chicago is a good thing," he said, "and we won't close. We will fight this thing out to a finish, and we will win."

The club fittings were seized Friday night by bailiffs on judgments for overdue rent. The club was closed to members yesterday.

GLASGOW FIREMEN FIGHT FLOOD OF BURNING WHISKY.

GLASGOW, Scotland, Dec. 19.—Firemen fought a canal of blazing whisky here today when a fire broke out in the building of the Distillery company, Ltd. Twelve thousand casks of liquor were stored in the building.

WIFE IS BURNED IN RISKING LIFE TO SAVE SPOUSE

Clothing Ignites as She Rips Newly Cleaned Gloves Flaming on His Hands.

Mrs. Frances Patterson of 7321 South Union avenue risked her life yesterday to save her husband, Wilbert E. Patterson, from injury by fire. As it is, she may suffer permanent disfigurement as a result of her heroic act.

Mrs. Patterson and R. G. Sappenfield, who was visiting her husband, were in the living room when they were brought running to the kitchen by the noise of an explosion and Patterson's cries. They found portions of the room on fire and Patterson was waving his hands frantically about, in an effort to free them from a pair of gloves which were flaming like torches.

Gasoline Soaked Gloves.
He had attempted to light a burner of the gas range while still wearing the gloves he had just finished cleaning with gasoline.

Mrs. Patterson had succeeded in ripping one of the gloves free when her clothing caught fire. She attempted to run from the room, screaming, but her husband seized her, and with the aid of Sappenfield, tore almost all her clothing off before the flames were stamped out.

Opiales Quiet Her Pain.

Dr. W. W. Lister was summoned, and while firemen were extinguishing the blaze in the kitchen, he was compelled to administer opiates to Mrs. Patterson to relieve her suffering from severe burns on the knees, hands, body, and face.

Patterson, who is an auditor for the Chicago, Indianapolis, and Louisville railroad, and Sappenfield had their hands badly burned. Mrs. Patterson will recover, according to Dr. Lister.

FEWER DIE IN HOSPITALS.

PARIS, Dec. 19.—Dr. Jacques Bertillon, director of medical statistics of the French army, in a special report which he has prepared, states that the mortality among the sick and wounded in hospitals is only eighteen in 1,000. Last year the mortality ratio was fifty-three to 1,000.

In peace times the Paris hospitals show a mortality of 106 in 1,000. The cause of the decrease is attributed to better hospital conditions.

When a Man Buys Christmas Gifts

He usually has little time or inclination to "shop"

HIS DESIRE IS:—

- To buy quickly;
- To select his gifts from an assortment sufficiently large to preclude the necessity of taking "something that will do" in place of something which he would like;
- To feel confident that he is securing something correct in style and of unquestionable quality and—
- To know that he is paying a reasonable price for what he gets.

STERILIZES BOY TO SAFEGUARD REST OF SOCIETY

Dr. Haiselden Performs Operation on Mentally Defective Youth.

Edwin Brussell, the mentally defective 15 year old son of a family living at 4322 Clifton avenue, was sterilized yesterday by an operation performed at the German-American hospital by Dr. Harry Haiselden.

At the case of the Brillinger baby, when Dr. Haiselden allowed to die because of its physical deformities, young Brussell's parents consented to the operation. They waited outside the operating room, and expressed relief and satisfaction when the physician told them that the operation had been very successful.

Wants World to Know.
"I want the result of this operation to be known to the world," said Dr. Haiselden. "Few persons are aware of the good that can be done through sterilization. If defective the world over could be prevented from having children, thousands of the most brutal crimes known would be avoided."

Use "Twilight Sleep."
The operation was performed in five minutes with the aid of the scopolamine or "twilight sleep" anesthetic popularly known as "twilight sleep."

Dr. Haiselden, of Stevens Point, Wis., appointed to supervise use of Methods and Materials.

Stevens Point, Wis., Dec. 16.—(Special.)—Miss Helen Parkhurst, director of the department for the training of primary teachers in the Stevens Point Normal school, has been appointed by Mrs. Montessori as supervisor of all schools and teachers in the United States who are using the Montessori methods and materials.

Miss Montessori said that to assure the success of her methods and work in the United States she was confident of cooperation and efficiency will be best obtained and fostered by the appointment of some one in the United States to supervise the schools and teachers using her methods, and that she is confident that Helen Parkhurst has sufficient acquaintance with her methods.

FALLS UPON ICE FATAL TO TWO.

TWO men died yesterday as a result of injuries received by slipping on icy sidewalks during the last week. One of the victims contracted pneumonia after being exposed to the cold after he fell on an ice covered post in the middle of a street.

The toll for the day was two fractured wrists.

The dead.
Frank Joppa, 46 years old, of 11742 Indiana avenue, fell on a patch of ice on Dec. 16. Pneumonia caused death at St. Bernard's hospital.

Valentine. Sebern of 1405 Center street, fell on ice covered walk Dec. 12. Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson, wife of E. L. Ryerson, chairman of the board of directors of Joseph T. Ryerson & Sons company, slipped on the walk on Bank street near Lake Shore drive at noon.

She was walking alone and was picked up by a passerby. She was taken to St. Luke's hospital. When Dr. Edwin Ryerson of 690 Lake Shore drive arrived he found Mrs. Ryerson's left wrist had been fractured. Her injuries were cared for and she was taken to her residence, 38 Bank street.

Many persons complained of the condition of the walks. There has been no snow or rain in two days and most of the walks are coated with ice.

Henry Ott of 4318 Leavitt street fractured his right arm in the falling when he fell at Thirty-fourth and Leavitt streets.

PASTORS PRAISE MAYOR'S STAND ON POLICE FORCE

Promise to Clean Up Department Brings Encouragement from the Pulpit.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.
Mayor Thompson's characterization of the police force as the center of a system of grafting and vice protection, and his promise to clean up the force if it takes his life, printed in THE TRIBUNE Saturday, aroused Chicago pastors as no other utterance has done since the mayor's inauguration.

Knows Crooks Are on Force.
We have all known for some time there are crooks, grafters, and brutes on the police force," said the Rev. Oscar C. Helming, pastor of the University Congregational church, who was one of the ministers arrested while investigating conditions during the garment workers' strike.

"I am eager to back up the mayor if he is prepared to go to the bottom of this thing. The evil we suffer under are not necessarily an indictment of the police department head, but of the police system and the influences allowed to shake it. The Canadian system appeals to me, where the control of the police is more like the control of the army vested in federal, and not local authority. Public opinion ought to back the mayor in carrying out his pledge to clean up the police."

Views of Other Pastors.
Others who expressed themselves were: The Rev. John Gardner, New England Congregational church—"If the mayor's statement of police conditions is approximately true, and there is no reason to doubt it, the facts ought to be made public, and the entire city ought to stand back of an effort to revolutionize police methods. I have been in the habit of comparing Chicago favorably in its morals with other large cities, but I believe the present situation is one of critical importance."

The Rev. A. S. Hawkins, Irving Park Methodist Episcopal church—"Turn the screws out" ought to apply to the crooks on the police force as in every other line of public service.

The Rev. E. G. Cattermole, Ingleside Avenue Methodist Episcopal church—"The mayor's determination to clean up the police force will require the same courage to carry out Sunday school closes."

POLICE TRAIL WOUNDED MAN BY CRIMSON IN THE SNOW.

Find Youth with Bullet in Head, Said to Have Been Fired by Bartender.

Carl Forze, 19 years old, had dangerously wounded at the Englewood hospital with a bullet wound in his head. Andrew Johnson, a bartender in Thompson & O'Connell's saloon, 3115 Westworth avenue, is under arrest and is said to have confessed the shooting.

While Forze was drinking in the saloon he and the bartender became involved in an argument. Johnson, it is said, put a revolver in his pocket and left. He met Forze again at Fifty-first and Halsted streets. The quarrel was renewed and Forze was shot.

Residents of the neighborhood summoned the police, who trailed Forze by blood in the snow to the office of a physician. He was removed to the Englewood hospital, where it was said last night he might recover. Johnson was arrested behind the bar, quietly serving drinks to customers.

'STOLE POLICIES FROM ME,' SAYS T. R. OF WILSON

President's "Preparedness" Ideas Not Original, Roosevelt Asserts.

New York, Dec. 19.—(Special.)—Col. Roosevelt continues to deliver broadsides at President Wilson and his administration, and in his latest article, entitled "America First—A Phrase or a Fact," which will appear in the January number of the Metropolitan Magazine, he says the president has finally adopted his (Roosevelt's) principle of preparedness, though seeking to apply it in a half-hearted manner.

"The administration recently has devised a new campaign catch phrase, 'safety first,' says one of the excerpts from the column's article. 'It certainly expresses their attitude in putting home and duty in the second place, or rather in no place at all. Safety first! This is the motto on which a shipwreck (those men act who crowd into the lifeboats ahead of the women and children.)"

Adopted Half-Heartedly.
In another excerpt the colonel, speaking of Mr. Wilson's repudiation of his former position and declaring that the president did not mean what he said so far as regards a nation of which he was afraid was concerned, writes:

"Mr. Wilson, a year later, has finally adopted my principle about preparedness, although he has sought to apply it in a half-hearted and inefficient manner; a year after I denounced peace at any price he followed suit, quoting the verses of Ezekiel which, for months, I had been quoting; a year after I had attacked hyphenated Americanism Mr. Wilson followed suit—at least before the Colonial Dames, and now he accepts my doctrine of America's duty to neutral nations, which a year ago he stoutly opposed. But he applies it only as American dollars, and only in relation to nations who can be trusted not to be rude. I believe it should be applied as regards American lives, but even more as regards American lives, and that it should be and most stoutly be asserted as regards the chief and most formidable offender."

Just Like Taft.
Col. Roosevelt trains his guns again on the president and the Mexican policy. He says, however, that he is making no party assault, but that the present administration has done what Mr. Taft did, and that Mr. Taft has gone out of his way to commend Mr. Wilson.

"Professional pacifists of the stamp of Bryan, Jordan, and Ford," says Col. Roosevelt, "work hand in glove with these exponents of hyphenated Americanism who are seeking to turn this country into an ally and tool of alien militarism."

ASK ROGER AND CARTER TO UNITE

Please Drop Internecine Strife After Primaries, State Officials Urge.

SO SAYS AUDITOR BRADY

Democratic candidates for reelection, both county and state, have started a "peace" movement in both factions of the Democratic party. The proposition is that Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Harrison confine their fight for control of the organization to the spring primaries and then all get together for the county and state ticket candidates.

This information was released yesterday following the arrival in town of State Auditor James J. Brady. Mr. Brady announced that he was a candidate for reelection, and that all the other state officials elected on the Dunne ticket are to seek renominations. Gov. Dunne is the only one who has not thus far publicly announced his candidacy.

Both Have Friends.
In both the county and state parties both Sullivan and Harrison have friends. What the patriots now in office want is the combined strength of Sullivan and Harrison behind them when the fall primary rolls around, which is next September. The county, sanitary district, judicial, and state nominations will be made then. For that reason they want a tacit understanding that all the hat-pulling will be confined to the February and April primaries.

Mr. Harrison, it is assumed, will be interested in helping Gov. Dunne. In the event he is a candidate for reelection, while Mr. Sullivan would not like to see anything happen to Attorney General Lucey or Auditor Brady. If Mr. Sullivan openly fights Dunne, then Mr. Harrison might openly oppose Brady and Lucey, in the way the men now in office are said to size up the situation.

The same situation obtains in Cook county.

Both Harrison and Sullivan have friends in the county office—Sullivan by far the lion's share—and both have personal friends among the Superior court judges who will be for renomination and reelection.

What Each Desires.
For instance, Mr. Harrison is expected to desire the renomination and reelection of State's Attorney Byrne and possibly the naming of a candidate for the board of assessors and some of the Superior court judicial candidates.

Mr. Sullivan is expected to desire the renominations of Recorder Joseph P. Conroy, Superior Court Clerk Richard J. McGrath, Circuit Court Clerk John W. Rainey, Assessor Thomas Webb, and probably Sanitary District Trustees Thomas Sullivan, Mr. Harrison, too, might desire the retention of Sanitary Trustee Kane.

That all these candidates may have the solid backing of the two factions, the pacifists will ask both Harrison and Sullivan that they agree not to carry their row for control of the party beyond the April primaries.

LEADERS EXPECT PRIMARY VOTERS TO REUNITE G.O.P.

Shows People Will Send
Majority to Chicago
1916 Convention.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Midwestern Republican leaders who are anxious for party peace in 1916 and a national convention at the Coliseum will harmonize the differences of opinion returned from Washington devoid of any fear that there is a scheme already afoot to thwart the will of the party.

It is learned from the highest authority that men who sat in all of the conference held during the national committee session—that the advice of all of the party assembly animated with the old guard, and some of the ultra-outer anti-Johnsonians from California, was that there should be no effort to force the nomination of a candidate picked by the national element.

For Wide Open Contest.
As a practical political proposition, it is agreed it is far better for all concerned to leave the contest wide open, for the ad, and with the general and genuine understanding that the nomination is to be made on the floor of the convention.

National committeemen from the Mississippi valley country came back with the assurance that eastern party men recognize that the national, state, and local tickets in the states where a heavy progressive vote was cast in 1912 cannot be jeopardized by a resumption of the politics of 1912.

At least the Republican state leaders in the bulk of the states between the Alleghenies and the Rockies, most of which passed at least one candidate each for the presidency, intend to proceed upon the assurance, according to information that came from a conspicuous member of the Republican national committee.

Hughes Absolutely Out.
From a national committeeman also came the statement that he had it upon the highest possible authority that Justice Hughes will decline the nomination, even if it is tendered to him by the Chicago convention.

From a New York Republican leader, whose official position in the party organization is of high degree, issued the statement that while there will be no particular effort made to prevent resolutions of the strongest kind in indorsement of John Root in the Republican state convention, there will be many Republicans in the delegation of eighty-seven from New York state who will not stand to be used as pawns in behalf of an old guard campaign to force the nomination of Root through a combination of old guard gains with the south.

Test of Root's Strength.
It is reported in Washington that Root and Cummings are to be given the field for a test of strength in the Minnesota primaries. If Root divides the delegation it will be taken as a sign that he can carry the west and will be nominated.

There was considerable talk at Washington, heard outside of the national committee sessions, that former Postmaster General Hitchcock already is engaged in the task of rounding up southern delegates, presumably in the interest of Root. The Mr. Hitchcock himself denied this.

More than this, the peace-loving Republicans from the middle west have checked over the apportionment of delegates and the number of direct primary states which will choose delegates to the Chicago convention by direct vote, and they decline to worry over a prospect that the old guard can seize convention control, even if it has that intention.

31 Delegate Primary States.
Counting in Vermont, which is likely to pass a primary law at the present legislative session, there are twenty-one states that will choose Chicago delegates directly. In the twenty-one are all the big and influential Republican states. These twenty-one states will elect 297 delegates as against 388 to be chosen by states that have no legal primaries. Of the 288 delegates who will come from nonprimary states, 259 will be sent from southern states.

Southern representation is reduced by eighty-four votes from that which it had in 1912, through the adoption of the new basis of representation, formally concluded last week at Washington. New York loses three delegates from its ninety of 1912, chargeable directly to the heavy Tammany Democratic vote in three city districts. New York is the only northern state to lose by the new deal.

W. FLINN STILL A MOOSER.
Pittsburgh Man Says Pennsylvania Will Send Delegation to Progressive Convention.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 19.—William Flinn announced tonight that he did not intend to desert the Progressive party, and declared that Pennsylvania would send seventy-six delegates to the Progressive national convention next year.

BY FRANK WING.

SENATOR
A. B. CUMMINS
OF IOWA

CUMMINS FULL OF 'PEP' AND 'PEPPER'; MANTOBEFEARED

Wins Way to Fame by Aggressiveness; Bitter Foe of Old John Barleycorn.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Dignity minus pomp, pugnacity plus reason—this is Cummins. The dictionary has "pepper," but not "pep." Senator Albert Baird Cummins of Iowa has both. He's a trust busting son of a carpenter, an insurgent of the days that called for it, a man feared and respected on the floor of the senate, and a potentiality for the Republican nomination for president.

Outside of that, he's against booze and he is the first presidential possibility of a major party that ever came out disfavored in favor of prohibition on a national scope. He is the originator of the phrase "The saloon must go," and believes that the time has arrived for its exit. Cummins will deliver the sobering blow if he gets the chance.

Settled in Chicago.
One day this month, just forty-three years ago—it was the year after the Chicago fire—Cummins, then 22 years old, stopped at the corner of Fifth Avenue and Madison street, watched the rebirth of a city in progress about him. He was on his way to Denver to work as a civil engineer on a railroad to save money and study law.

"Well, if it ain't old man Cummins," boy Al," was the introduction that the young civil engineer received from an old friend of his father.

Two minutes later Cummins was installed as a clerk in the offices of the law firm of McClellan & Hodges in the Boone block, then located in La Salle street between Madison and Washington streets. He was admitted to the bar at Springfield a few years later, and in 1878 left Chicago for Des Moines, Ia., a lawyer's office of his own, and whatever the future held.

Proves Self Legal David.
The farmers of Iowa began looking for a David who could slay the barbed wire trust and extricate the back. Cummins was the man selected, and what he did to the trust is still told at county fairs and grange meetings throughout the Hawkeye state.

As governor Cummins pushed through a 2 cent fare law, an anti-pass law, a primary election law, a law to prevent corporations from contributing to campaign funds, a campaign publicity law, and a law limiting the hours of work for railroad employees.

Cummins had been governor of Iowa three terms when Senator Allison died in 1906. He then became Allison's logical successor in the senate, where he has remained ever since.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—The forty-seventh annual convention of the National American Woman Suffrage association closed today with a mass meeting at which Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, the retiring president, presided.

The speakers included Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, the newly elected president; Dr. Katherine Bement Davis, and Dudley Field Malone, collector of the port of New York.

Mr. Malone declared that in seeking the right to vote American women were demanding nothing new, and traced historically the extension of the franchise to the present time.

"Dine and Dance at the Knox"

Luncheon, 10:30 to 2:30—Supper, 5 to 7.
Public Dancing, 5 to 7—Enjoy Yourself.

The Knox Cafeteria is the oldest cafeteria now in existence in Chicago, with an established clientele, who for many years have enjoyed the excellent foods and perfect service provided by this establishment.

Beginning this evening the Knox Cafeteria will inaugurate a new system. Luncheon will be served as usual from 10:30 to 2:30. In the evening supper also will be served from 5 to 7, with public dancing as an added attraction. Excellent music has been engaged, and those who like "dancing with their eats" may "waltz" or "trot" to their hearts' content.

Those who eat at the Knox eat well, as thousands will testify. Everything served to patrons of this popular cafeteria is cooked on the premises, under the personal supervision of the Gerity-Wellers, Chicago's well-known caterers. A beautifully-appointed rest room is a popular feature at the Knox, where guests may assemble for music, reading or resting.

"Dine and dance at the Knox" this evening—you'll be delighted with everything—the food, the service, the cooking, the music, the dancing—a nice, quiet, exclusive spot to spend an hour or so in recreation and pleasure.

MERRY YULETIDE FOR EMPLOYEES IN WALL STREET

Year of Prosperous Business
Makes Firms Lavish with Christmas Checks.

New York, Dec. 19.—Wall street's merry Yuletide is going to have an old-fashioned Christmas, for the first time in many years. In most cases the distribution of the Christmas envelope does not take place until Dec. 24; however, some of the brokerage firms, private banks, and trust companies let their men know what to expect while Christmas is still a week or ten days off. From the announcements made this week Wall street's Yuletide will be lessened with this Christmas.

Christmas of 1914 was lean and miserable; this year it will be fat and happy. Up to the present time transactions on the stock exchange for 1915 have amounted to 150,000,000 shares, compared with only 45,000,000 shares for the corresponding period of 1914 and 80,000,000 shares for 1913.

Gifts Equal Year's Salary. Some of the clerks who sleep and work in their offices for weeks during the great bull market of 1915 will get in their Christmas envelope a check equal to their full year's salary. This is the limit of the Christmas bonus. It is what J. P. Morgan & Co. gave their men after the launching of the United States Steel corporation in 1901.

There are many private banking firms and stock exchange houses in Wall street which will give their men this year a Christmas bonus equal to six months' salary. Hundreds of houses will make distributions equal to one-tenth of a clerk's annual salary.

John D. Lacks Enough Turkey. According to an old legend at 26 Broadway, John D. Rockefeller once had an opportunity about this time of year to buy a large flock of turkeys. A few days before Christmas he began to distribute the birds among Standard Oil men. It was soon discovered, however, that there were not near enough turkeys to go around. That was Standard Oil's only venture in Christmas giving.

A year ago the First National bank arrived at the conclusion that the Christmas distribution had been carried to excessive proportions. It was then announced that the Christmas party element would be replaced by a system of salary increases.

The United States Steel corporation has already announced that it is going to do something handsome for its men this year, partly to make up for what was done last year. In brief, there will be plenty of the Christmas spirit in Wall street from now until the close of business Friday.

TRUCE IN AINSLEE'S CHURCH. Congregation at War Over Retaining Pastor Gives Itself Over to Holiday Spirit.

A Christmas truce has been called at the North Star Congregational church, where the Rev. J. S. Ainslee is still pastor, having defeated an attempt last Wednesday evening to oust him.

"No mention was made of our troubles today," said Dr. Ainslee. "We are now giving ourselves to thoughts of Christmas."

Inquiry of the clerk revealed no further action had been taken in regard to calling a general church council of the members of the Chicago association than the action taken last Wednesday evening.

Folleoman Driscoll Dead. Folleoman Driscoll, the doctor who died last night of pneumonia at his home, 1228 West Seventy-third street, Driscoll became ill a week ago at roll call. A widow and one child survive him. He had been on the force about nine years.

Goodfellow Opportunities

ONLY four days more for the recruiting of the Good Fellow army! It's a huge one already, and thousands of kiddies in poverty-stricken homes are to be made happy by its activities. But what of the other thousands who are still without prospect of a visit from Santa Claus on Christmas eve?

C—Last summer the father in the N. C. family developed mental trouble and is now in a hospital for the insane. The doctors say he cannot recover. There are four children—Mary, 18; Sara, 11; William, 10; and Robert, 4 months. Mrs. C. has told the children that Santa Claus will not be with them this year and has thereby precipitated their first controversy with William, who says that Santa cannot forget the baby, this being his first Christmas. Mary and Sara have written letters to Santa Claus—Mrs. C. admits she had a good cry over them—and have positively declined to give up hope.

X—E. X. deserted his family shortly before Katherine, now 2 years old, was born. Since that time his wife has done washing and supported her little brood with the occasional help given her by her own people. There are four children besides Katherine—Mary, 12; Albert, 9; William, 8; and George, 7. Mrs. X. has never heard from her husband, and, of course, he has never contributed anything toward the children's support. The mother is slowly breaking down under the physical strain of caring for so many and has completely given up hope of being able to provide even an apology for a Christmas celebration.

T—Here, say the charity workers, is one of the most remarkable cases on their records. There are ten people in the T. family—Mr. T. and Mrs. T.; Anna, 14; Francis, 12; John, 11; Pauline, 7; Arthur, 5; Jennie, 4; Fred, 3; and Mary, 1 year old. Anna supports them all by working in a soap factory at $4 a week. Mr. T. is an arrested case of tuberculosis; neither is able to work steadily, and neither is working now. St. Peter will enter a big credit mark for the Good Fellow who plays Santa Claus to the T. family.

Here's something for every Chicagoan—man or woman—who owns an automobile.

You know, perhaps, what the Good Fellow army of 1915 is undertaking this year—of the thousands of visits to be made by gift-laden Good Fellows next Friday to the homes of boys and girls where poverty is a daily companion and where the difference between joy and despair depends, perhaps, on an slight thing as a 25 cent doll or a 10 cent bag of candy.

Going to Play Santa? You know the thousands of destitute fathers and mothers who'll have some little excuse for a smile when the door is flung open to admit Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus and their children, maybe, with the message of good cheer that they dreamed of but thought couldn't possibly come this year.

If you don't know these things they'll tell you at THE TRIBUNE's Good Fellow department.

But did you know that in certain comparatively inaccessible parts of Chicago there are, even now, several thousand children whose names have been reported to THE TRIBUNE, but for whom no Christmas visits have been provided because there are no Good Fellows living in their districts?

Many of the names have been on THE TRIBUNE'S lists for weeks. New ones are being reported daily. And while the more fortunate kiddies in other parts of the city have been assured of visits from Good Fellows who live near them, these boys and girls are waiting hopefully for the Santa Claus who is going to forget them unless an auxiliary army of Good Fellows comes to their rescue in a hurry.

Automobiles Needed. Automobiles are needed, hundreds of them, and Good Fellows to man them and load them up with a bit of Christmas cheer—it isn't much, you know, to bring happiness to homes such as these—and pilot them out where the elevated doesn't go and where the holidays will mean otherwise, simply that the cold is a little more bitter than at other times and light and warmth a little farther away.

It's a simple matter. Just fill out the blank on this page, or write a letter to the Good Fellow department, or call up THE TRIBUNE and tell them in room 520 how many children you are willing to visit next Friday. The names and addresses will be sent you within an hour or two. Then it's up to you.

BOY STUDIES POOR.

Student of Journalism Goes Into "Little Italy" to Get Good Fellow Story.

Willard Casterline is studying journalism. Not out of text books altogether, but sometimes from real life. He is 14 years old. Here is his account of a family in "Little Italy" that may reach the heart of some Good Fellow:

BY WILLARD B. CASTERLINE.

The name of this family was given to me by a teacher in the Jenner school, which is located in the heart of "Little Italy," and where recently several Black Hand murders have been staged. I investigated carefully and have found that this family needs help in the worst way.

Mr. C—, whose business, when he is working, is that of a coal heaver, lives at 1120 Milton street. While working one time he fell on a piece of glass and cut off a big part of his hand, thus confining him to bed for a month. Their little hovel consists of two rooms, one a kitchen and the other one which serves as a dining, sleeping, and living room.

Children Are Ragged. As I went in I saw a sight which made me shudder. Six dirty, ragged, and bony little children, none of whom is over 6 years old, sprawled around the floor. Frances, the oldest one, tried to make them sit up and pay attention to their new guest, but until I mentioned her name she did not seem to care. When that subject was mentioned, however, they all gathered around me, each one trying to outdo the other in clamoring for what they wanted Santa Claus to bring them for Christmas.

Have Many Wants. Dresses, shoes, mittens, stocking caps, dolls, and buggies were the prevailing articles of want. I told them that I would try to help them, but until I mentioned a man whom I then described, I described him in this way: He is a nice, fatherly, kind hearted man. The kind of man who realizes that there are poor little children as well as those who are rich. "He must be an angel," exclaimed Frances.

"How much money do you make a day?" I asked Mr. C—. "Some days I make only 10 cents, and other days I make 25," he replied dependently. "But how do you manage to keep your wife, yourself, and your six children on that amount of money?" I queried.

Wife Helps Out. "My wife works in a tailor shop, and she earns 25 cents some days," he replied. "Is there not some 'Good Fellow' in Chicago who will give this family a good Christmas dinner and some clothes to protect these little children from this winter's coldness?"

FORM LOOP TRAFFIC LEAGUE TO WAR AGAINST CONGESTION

Organization Will Work for Better Conditions in Crowded Downtown Streets.

War has been declared upon the congested condition of the Chicago loop streets.

The Loop Traffic league, composed of public spirited citizens representing everybody's argument for or against prevailing conditions, has been formed.

The league stands for a square deal for all and believes that the present question of what shall be done with automobiles that are stored on the loop streets must be settled, and can be settled, in a way that will be fair to all.

G. W. Stratton, an automobile dealer, is chairman of the league.

Other members are Judge Sabath of the Automobile court, Chief Hooley, Arnold Jorras, Nelson N. Lampert of Fort Dearborn National bank, Anderson Pace, formerly industrial commissioner of the Chicago Association of Commerce, Mayor Thompson, Ray C. Morgan, and Dr. M. J. Purcell, city health physician.

Fire in Hold of Steamer. BORDAUX, Dec. 19.—Fire was discovered today in the hold of the steamer Lord Carmichael, which arrived here Dec. 2 from New York having a general cargo and horses. The horses had already been taken off the ship. The cause of the fire is unknown.

FRENCH HORSE BUYER FOUND DEAD IN ROOM

Police Are Investigating Mysterious Death of Agent of Warring Nation.

An agent for the French government was found dead in a room at 4217 Wabash avenue yesterday. With a view to the disclosure of a possible plot the police of the Stockyards station have begun an investigation.

The victim was George Miller, known as a spy. He came to Chicago five months ago and rented a room at the boarding house of Mrs. Della Cunningham. From the first Miller seemed to avoid revealing the nature of his business, but he frequented the horse market at the stockyards and bought large numbers of horses.

Afraid to Talk.

Once when the subject was mentioned before him Miller attempted to change the nature of the conversation, according to Mrs. Cunningham, and stated that "it wasn't very safe for a man in his business to talk much."

Miller was found dead in his bed. He was partly dressed. Articles of the clothing which he had worn were scattered about the room. There was no evidence of a struggle.

To Examine Stomach.

From the appearance of the scattered clothing and the position in which Miller was lying in the bed, it was apparent to the police he had attempted to undress himself, but was stricken suddenly. From a superficial examination, evidences of poison could not be found, but the police have been asked to submit the contents of the stomach to the city chemist.

The theory that Miller's death was possibly caused by poison was strengthened when the police learned he had been seen in several saloons along Halsted street near the entrance of the stockyards with several horses before he went home. Miller, according to other boarders, rarely drank and seldom visited saloons during the last five months.

Saloons All Closed?

Quoted to the fact that the saloons were closed yesterday the police were hampered in their investigation of what Miller drank or the identity of the men with whom he is supposed to have been drinking.

According to the detectives, several men have been found who gave them information concerning a feud between German agents and agents for the allies in the trading ring of the horse market. Miller is said to have taken an active part in the feud which began when a number of horses which had been bought for the French government were "hamstrung" by persons unknown. A fist fight followed.

Sister in Cincinnati.

In a notebook in one of his pockets was discovered the name of "Julia Miller, 348 Wood avenue, Cincinnati, O." James P. McInerney of the undertaking firm of McInerney Bros., wired to the address. He received a reply which stated that Julia Miller was a sister of the dead man. Mr. McInerney was instructed to prepare the body for shipment to Cincinnati.

A deputy coroner viewed the body at McInerney's undertaking establishment and then ordered an inquest for this morning. Relatives of Miller are expected to come to Chicago from Cincinnati today and take charge of the body.

Charged with Carrying Revolver.

An Italian giving the name John J. Miller, 1000 North Dearborn street, was arrested on a charge of carrying a loaded revolver after a struggle with Detective Serg. Bernasconi early yesterday.

S. M. SWEITZER ON JOB OR OFF?

Stuckart and 'Bob's' Brother Tell Different Stories About Latter's Work.

RUMORS OF A BREAK

Samuel M. Sweitzer, brother of Robert M. Sweitzer, candidate for mayor against William Hale Thompson, is the center of mystery in County Treasurer Henry Stuckart's office.

County Treasurer Stuckart, says Mr. Sweitzer is on a month's vacation from his clerical duties. Mr. Sweitzer himself says he is working every day as usual.

A report about the county building had in that Mr. Sweitzer and at least one other employee of the county treasurer's office had been discharged by Mr. Stuckart.

"Where is Mr. Sweitzer?" Mr. Stuckart was asked last Thursday.

On a Vacation—Stuckart.

"He's home on a vacation," the county treasurer answered. "Has been for a week."

"Then why," Mr. Stuckart was asked, "did Mr. Sweitzer tell THE TRIBUNE over the telephone that he was at work Wednesday and expected to report for work this morning as usual?"

"I don't know what made him say that," Mr. Stuckart returned. "Maybe he thought he was protecting me. He asked for a vacation some time ago and I made him take it. He'll be gone a month. Guess, maybe, he thinks he is going to be paid while he is on vacation."

Can't "Put Over Anything."

"Perhaps he thinks he can put that over on me because he is Bob's brother. Nothing doing. He will be treated just like any other clerk in my office. None of them gets pay while on vacation. I suppose when he told THE TRIBUNE he was at his desk, he thought he was helping me out."

"Is there any friction between you and Bob Sweitzer?"

"No," replied Mr. Stuckart. "He was in to pay me a little visit this morning. He told me THE TRIBUNE had called up about his brother and he asked me what I was trying to put over."

COLD NUMBS MOTORCYCLIST
Mail Carrier Falls from His Machine When Trying to Start Stalled Motor.

Harry Loeffler, 722 North avenue, a mail carrier, was so affected by cold yesterday at Garfield avenue and Fremont street, while trying to start his motorcycle, that his limbs became numb and he fell from the seat. He was revived at the North Halsted street police station.

AMERICAN GIRL LIGHT OF BLIND FRENCH HEROES

Widowed Holt's Work in Paris
"Puts Eyes on Finger Tips" of Soldier Victims.

BY PHILIP KERRY.

PARIS, Dec. 2.—Blind for life! That is the fate that has overtaken many of France's sons who, not having been permitted to offer their life on the altar of patriotism, have given their next best, their eyes, to their country.

French warfare, the concussion of huge artillery, poisonous gases, flaming tar, have all contributed to cause wounds in the head, only too often resulting in total blindness.

The brave fellows who have sacrificed their eyes or leg are oftentimes cheerful and as bright as the sun, regarding it merely as a temporary misfortune, but those who are deprived of their sight oftentimes are so depressed that they are almost unable to commit suicide and bemoan their fate that they were not killed in battle.

America Again to Fore.
American initiative again has stepped to the fore. A group of Americans who sympathize with the French cause have organized themselves into a committee to assist in teaching the blind. Miss Wanda Holt, well known in America for her work with the blind in "The Light House" in New York City, was the originator of the idea.

By way in London when the war broke out, an American delegate to the international congress of the blind in that city, finding what great opportunities the war offered to aid those who have been blinded, she came to Paris and succeeded in gathering sufficient funds among American friends to carry on a limited amount of work with the soldiers.

Her devotion for aiding in her work will much Miss Holt if mailed care of the Hotel de Clillon, Paris, France, and will be appreciated, however small.

Dependency Soon Follows.
The darkest moment in a soldier's life is when for the first time he realizes that he never will be able to go again. Miss Holt told me recently: "Without prompt expert assistance soon after the loss of sight the blind man is left to become dependent, to lose his independence, or to drift into an apathy from which it is difficult if not impossible to rouse him."

The committee's first task is to find the blind soldiers, some of whom are housed in improvised hospitals, farm houses or chateaux, and many of whom are congregated in the large hospitals at the front. The committee sends out visitors and teachers to these blind soldiers, and for those otherwise physically able it starts the task of "putting eyes on their finger tips" and giving them light through work.

Special Building Provided.
The ministry of war has just given a special building to be used entirely for the instruction of the blind. Many blind soldiers have come forward and offered their services to Miss Holt to serve under her guidance. A class in instruction is held every morning in one of the large halls. The men come here to start their lives over again.

Typewriters and stenographic machines specially constructed for the blind have been imported from America for their instruction. The men are taught the "touch" typewriting system, similar to that taught in many of our large business schools and colleges.

For ordinary writing and reading the International Braille raised letter system is used.

Loss Never Mentioned.
Speaking of her work with the men, Miss Holt said: "My friends have been very kind in holding up my hands and my unabilities have given us every support. We are working in twenty-seven military hospitals and have a large waiting list of men who are able to be about and who wish to come to our 'school' as we call it. A class in instruction is held every morning in one of the large halls. The men come here to start their lives over again."

One of our maxims is never to commiserate with a blind man for his loss. We have to teach them, but never speak of their affliction. It always makes the man indulge in self-pity, which is the worst possible thing for him, as the moment he begins to think about what he might have been he becomes downcast and has no interest in work. Work is what the man's mind is occupied continually is the only salvation for men who have always led active lives."

When you travel on business you do not, as a rule, go direct from your train to see your man. You go via a hotel. And how you feel when you get to your work depends largely upon what hotel you've selected.

At Hotel Statler are built, equipped, organized and manned to serve business men, we accept that responsibility and we'll provide you a comfortable, convenient, satisfactory stay. Operational headquarters, Buffalo, Cleveland or Detroit.

One of Four Twins; All Just Like Him.

ALPHONSO GORI

Alphonso Gori, 10 months old, is an elder brother in his family. And he acts the part toward his twin sister, Vincenzo. He is 10 whole months older than the newest twins—a day old Guido and Christina.

First, Mrs. Susanna Gori presented her husband with Alphonso and his sister, Vincenzo, and on Friday the new twins—Christina and her brother Guido—arrived at 848 West Taylor street. There is another child, Eda, 3 years old.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Gori are members of a family of 17 children; so is Mrs. Gori.

"My mother bore a child every year for seventeen years," said Mr. Gori. "There were eight girls and nine boys of us—eleven are living."

who, besides being blinded for life by bursting shrapnel, had just had both legs amputated below the thigh. He is the pet of the hospital, because he seldom complains, but is impatient to be up and out. "Well, they didn't get my hands or arms, and I guess I will be able to make some use of them when I get well."

Several weddings have occurred recently of officers who have been blinded in the defense of their country. Engaged before the war, their sweethearts have remained true and regard the fact of their being blind as adding to the romance. The true spirit of France has manifested itself again.

"Our men have suffered in the defense of our homes. We could not desert them now in their hour of misfortune; if we did we would be unworthy to be called daughters of France. It is our privilege to protect them as they have protected us."

FLEEING THIEF TAKES $65.

Dr. John E. Nyman of 338 Home avenue, Oak Park, reported last evening that his home had been robbed of $15 and eight stickpins valued at $50. Dr. Nyman, returning with his family, on the stairway encountered a young man, who dashed by him and escaped.

UNABLE TO TELL OF MYSTERY TRIP

Youth Found in Dayton
Home; Believed Victim of Sluggers.

SEIZED BY APHASIA?

Too ill to speak, George E. Clark, who was yesterday returned to his home, 5112 Magnolia avenue, is unable to explain his mysterious disappearance from Chicago on Dec. 9 and the strange circumstances of his being found unconscious in a Dayton, O., park several days later.

His father, W. Irving Clark, a contractor with offices in the Insurance Exchange building, believes the boy has suffered an attack of apoplexy.

"The doctors at the Miami Valley hospital, where George was taken when found in Dayton, believe he was sandbagged, and so does Dr. John A. Robinson, who is attending him at home," said Mr. Clark. "He had an attack of apoplexy a year ago, and I am inclined to think he suffered another, wandered to Dayton and was struck down and robbed. We are investigating. It is possible that his assailants put him on the train, but that seems improbable, as some one would certainly have discovered his condition."

During intervals of consciousness while he lay in the Dayton hospital, young Clark, in broken sentences, mentioned a short man, and said that he had directed him to take the train. That is all that has been obtained from him in explanation of his predicament.

Young Clark had been in poor health for more than a year. He is 21 years old, and had been working in his father's office. On the day of his disappearance he had left the office to execute several errands in the loop, and that was the last his people heard of him until he was picked up in Dayton.

People Who Get Hurt

on the streets usually are those who do not take traffic dangers seriously.

People who escape injury are those who realize the dangers and take extra precaution in the congested district.

No safety devices, no amount of care on the part of the street car motormen or vehicle drivers, will entirely eliminate the traffic hazard—there is still left the personal equation of the pedestrian. And this is a very uncertain factor unless the pedestrian is cautious.

Be careful. Do not crowd in front of moving cars; do not cut street intersections or cross in the middle of the block. Mind the traffic whistle as the drivers do. Be careful in getting on and off cars.

Caution is especially necessary now that winter is here. A hasty step on a spot of ice may mean not only a fall but a fall in front of—or under—a moving car or vehicle.

It takes a little time to be cautious—but you will be with us longer.

What Everybody Wants for Christmas

THE Saturday Evening Post is the ideal Christmas present. Such a gift is not costly, but it gives pleasure and satisfaction out of all proportion to its modest price. Good reading matter is the one gift whose value may be a thousand times its cost.

ONE dollar and a half, for example, will pay for such a gift; for fifteen dollars you can remember ten friends or employees and save hours of vexation in crowded shops. Why not have a sensible Christmas by spending less money than usual and giving more pleasure than ever before?

MAKE a list of your friends as long or as short as you choose and remit a dollar and a half for each subscription. On Christmas morning each friend will receive from us the first of his fifty-two issues of The Saturday Evening Post and in the same mail a tastefully illuminated announcement of the gift (6 x 9 inches) bearing your name as the giver. If you prefer, the announcements will be sent to you so that you may present them personally.

Fine Assortments of Gloves for Holiday Choosers

Such assortments are unusual this season, for besides the dearth of expert workers in the factories at Paris and Grenoble, resulting in greatly decreased output, there is great difficulty in obtaining good leathers.

Many of the foreign countries not only object to the exportation of leather, but bid against the manufacturers in the markets.

Gifts of Gloves Assume Added Value This Season.

In these great gift-time assortments there is scarce a hint of the difficulties existent.

Street Gloves, $1.00 to $2.00.

Mousquetaire Gloves, $2.00 to $5.50.

Distinctive Styles in Gift Negligees

One almost certain way to delight a woman Christmas morning would be by sending a Negligee like either of the two sketched.

A Hand-Embroidered Crepe de Chine Negligee, $15.00.

Sketched at the left of the accompanying group—made with crepe de chine, with lace at the back with velvet ribbon. The skirt is box-plaited.

From Japan Comes a Lovely Flowered Kimono, $16.75.

Sketched at the right—elaborately hand-embroidered on fine Japanese silk crepe and lined throughout.

Sixth Floor, Wabash Avenue.

Leather Sewing Bags and Boxes for Gifts

The values are special and the articles are fresh, unhandled—a credit to any one sending them as Christmas greetings.

Leather Sewing Boxes—Special—$1.00.

Each more or less fitted with scissors, needles, threads, stiletto, bodkin, etc.

Leather Sewing Bags—Special—$1.25 and $1.50.

The $1.25 Bags are lined with satin and have many little pockets for threads and thimbles. Those at $1.50 are lined throughout with leather and have ten pockets for threads, etc.

First Floor, North Room.

Gifts for Baby

From the Infants' Wear Section, Fourth Floor

Things to amuse the baby, and everything to clothe it and add to its comfort—Rattles, Hand-Painted Trays, Bibs, Frocks, Coats, Sacques, Bonnets, Sweater Sets, Mittens, Booties—and Nursery Furniture of white enameled wicker and enameled wood.

The little Wood Saddle sketched at the right—tied with ribbons, finished with a crocheted silk edge, 95c. Other styles at this price.

Blanket Gowns—sized 4 to 12 years with hoods and feet, made of cozy blanket cloth. Prices, $2.75 and $3.75.

Quilted Gowns or Overalls—covered with China silk and hand-quilted. Price, $5.00.

Many other articles, suitable for gifts, from 25c up.

On the Juvenile Floor—the Fourth.

Handsome Brushed Wool Sweaters, $5.00 For Women and Misses

No handseamer could be found for the money. Every woman and miss who likes the winter out-of-doors will gladly welcome such a gift Christmas morning.

Sweater Coats, $5.00.

One is sketched at the right of the group, excellently tailored with double stitched seams and pockets. Its white pearl buttons, partial belt and roll collar add smartness to the serviceability and comfort its cozy texture assures. Offered in plain or mixed colorings.

Sweater Sets of Tam o' Shanter, Scarf and Coat, $10.00.

One of these, sketched at the left, shows the style. It is exceedingly smart and rather unusual as to value, we believe.

Sixth Floor, Wabash Avenue.

For Gifts to Women and Children—Imported Boudoir Slippers

Cozy Slippers for barefoot wear—so attractive and "comfy" the children will take time to put them on, even on Christmas morning.

Camel's Hair and Wool Slippers, part plaid, part plain, as illustrated, in women's, misses' and children's sizes—$3.00, $2.50, $1.50 and $1.25, according to size.

Imported Felt Slippers for Women—with padded soles—$1.50.

Also assortments of Motor Boots, "Comfy" Slippers and Party Slippers—suitable for gift purposes.

Fourth Floor, South Room.

Interesting Articles for Gifts

From the Fancy Goods Section

PILLOWS—BOXED FOR GIFTS—covered with plain fabrics, tapestry bordered, edged with gold braid or other fancy finishes—all ready for use—priced at 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $2.00 each.

TAPESTRY TABLE SCARFS—with fringed ends—size 21x54, special at $1.35.

CRETONNE SCARFS—for tables, dressers, etc.—edged with gold braid or trimmed with lace—exceptional value at 25c each.

TAPESTRY-COVERED DRUM SCRAP BASKETS—ornamented with French prints and trimmed with gold braid—in rose, blue, green and old gold—special at $2.00.

Third Floor, South Room.

Boudoir Caps at $1.00 for Dainty Gifts

Two charming styles in Breakfast or Boudoir Caps are sketched—one made of hand-embroidered Japanese silk, velled in chiffon. This has a chiffon-covered frill and is trimmed with a cluster of chiffon roses.

The other Cap is made of fine lace, with a quaint frill at the back of the neck only. It is trimmed with ribbon and chiffon roses at the front and sides.

Sixth Floor, Wabash Avenue.

For Gift Shoppers Who Seek the Practical Beautiful 13-Piece Luncheon Sets, $3.50

One Centerpiece, six plates and six glass doilies are included in the Set, daintily embroidered in eyelet design.

"Field Zion Special" Bedspread Sets, $3.50

The Set consists of 82x94 scallop-edged Satin Marcellus Bedspread and Bolster

Cover to match. As a result of being made in our own Zion City factories, these are exceptional in value at their price.

Second Floor, North Room.

See the Bull Fight? Well, They Had One

BY CINDERELLA. YOU have to hand it to the charity managers for having produced a ripping entertainment this year, that left no stone unturned.

Even the patient waiters for the grand march in boxes and galleries had a diversion in the way of fancy dancing before the professional dancing couples, which quite waked everybody up.

Then the ladies on the bleachers, or whatever they call them at the bull fight, many of them came a little "Bogged," which was very nice.

Mrs. Watson Blair had a red flower in her black hair, a black mantilla and a red fan. Mrs. Jimmie Waller wore a mantilla and carried a fan, and Mrs. Henry Dobbins had a red feather fan.

Some of the seta naturally were more effective and stunning than others, long experience at fancy dress teaches people things. And sometimes the professional beauty passed unnoticed in the jam at the charity ball, while some ducky little person in a happy combination of color, who never was in the limelight before, unexpectedly arrives.

Mrs. Chaffee-Taylor's group was very exotic, and she had beautiful wavy hair. Mrs. Carter Hamilton, handsome herself, had a long train of pretty girls in various gaudy, purple and pink, blue, black and gold, edged with glittering silver.

Mrs. Austin Niblack's gitanas were wonderful. "Buck" Rogers, her girl, had slim, dashing features in a white satin and tulle, Carmen fans and dashing black satin lace.

Mrs. Orville Babcock's girls were a great lot. Dancers of Seattle, with flowered skirts of dark silks and velvet bodices of scarlet, orange, black and green. They were superb black and fluted great fans.

The magnificent group of the evening was at the end. The best at the last. Mrs. Moore Palmer's women, including Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Dick Bissell, Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. Watson Armour, and others, in the most gorgeous black colors, combinations of dark silks and velvet, they were each and every one a picture, and so modest and retiring in their way of handling together that one could hardly admire them enough.

Mrs. Hamilton Lewis was the heroine of the evening. Seated on a precarious donkey cart, of which the donkey was sitting frequently on the slippery floor, she was game to the end, although everybody knew she would have been much happier in a yellow cab.

Live stock abounded at the ball, and after all they had a real bull fight; but it wasn't the program.

There was a young man named Vincent Healy who found the bull waiting to be escorted into the ballroom by Roy McWilliams, from behind the scenes.

"Hello," said Mr. Healy, casually thrusting his hand into the bull's mouth. Heady who found the bull waiting to be escorted into the ballroom by Roy McWilliams, from behind the scenes.

Whereupon the bull delivered a swift kick at Mr. Healy in the place where he usually breathes, following, "Do you take me for a Nanny goat?" or words to that effect.

Upon finding his breath, Mr. Healy rushed the bull and had the front of him conquered, when the hind legs of the animal began a rearward action, which was turning into something dire when matadors, picadors, and torreadors intervened.

Mr. Healy should have remembered never to look a gift bull in the mouth. The folks, it seems, had given him for the occasion.

When occasion comes to comment more generously upon the "Ring" as a whole, great credit will go to Egon Pollak and to Loomis Taylor, the stage general. For, in the final analysis, there has been the ultimate responsibility of performance. And any have they carried their burden.

Mr. Campanini should rest more easily this morning, now that his promises have been fulfilled with such gratifying results. He won't, though. He's probably hammering away in rehearsal as you read these lines.

An interesting aftermath of news value is the departure of Mr. and Mrs. MacLennan, who is known professionally as Florence Easton, by the way for the east today. Another German tenor comes, probably for the "Parafal" performance, in the person of Vernon Stiles, who hails from the Dresden opera and has coached Wagnerian roles with Siegfried Wagner.

Wolf-Ferrari's "The Jewels of the Madonna" will be sung at the Auditorium tonight for the first time this season. Loutre Edrine, creator of the role in London, will sing Matilda, and Amedeo Benal, creator of the role of Gennaro in this country, will be in the cast. So will Mrs. Van Gordon and Mario Ancona.

Oliver Fremsted and Francis MacLennan share the laurels with Conductor Pollak. For that matter, Clarence Whitehead and Allen Hinkley won their honors as colorfully, and Mrs. Schumann-Hainke as a singing power, and the rucel declamation, one must bow his compliments to an ensemble so remarkably successful.
